New School at Big Creek

The third graders in the top picture slowed down their procession into their new school long enough to get their picture taken, but if they look a bit impatient it's no wonder. They are moving from an old frame school house into brand new, modern Big Creek Elementary School for the very first time. Their teacher, Miss Faye Wells, is shown at the extreme left. The new school is shown in the bottom photo.

New Consolidated School Opens At Big Creek

Over 250 excited school children and eight teachers found a new educational home this week as the brand new Big Creek Elementary School opened for classes Monday.

And as the fluorescent lights came on to brighten the gleaming classrooms at the new school, four more old frame schools were left deserted and cold as fires in their pot-bellied stoves went unlit.

Big Creek is the third new brick elementary school to open its doors to Perry County children in the past two years.

The others are the Robert W. Combs School at Happy and the Dennis Wootton School at Airport Gardens.

The new one at Big Creek replaced these old wooden schools: Woodland, a one room building, Awawam, two rooms, Whitaker, two rooms, and Eversole, three rooms.

A fourth new school will be opened soon at Buckhorn. Dedication of the Big Creek school will be delayed until then, so that a joint ceremony can be held.

The students and teachers at Big Creek have good reason to be excited. Their $154,000 building is completely modern. It has eight classrooms newly furnished, modern restrooms, plus an elaborate cafeteria and kitchen, and office space for administrators.

All of the old schools had outdoor toilets and neither offered a hot lunch to the students.

The four-acre lot on which the school is built, on Highway 80 near the junction of the two forks of Big Creek, is all mud now.

But it has been terraced and red dog is down in preparation for a drive way and athletic and recreational facilities to come.

The building was a year in construction. The contractor was Nashland Construction Company of Cincinnati, Ohio. The students came by the busload to report for their first day's classes in the new school early Monday.

Carrying books and materials, some so small their loads looked as big as they were, children of all grades eagerly filed into their new facilities.

School Superintendent Dennis Wootton and Board Member Paul Campbell were on hand to greet them.

The principal at Big Creek is Roscoe Turner. His teaching staff consists of Edith Campbell, Martha Campbell, Virile Turner, William Cornett, Bobbie Jean Couch, Naomi Eversole, Betty Jean Eversole, and Faye Wells.

Bill Morton Gives Rotary Program

Mr. William P. Morton had charge of the program for the weekly meeting of the Hazard Rotary Club last Wednesday.

After saying a few words on the work of the Rotary Club in connection with the movement for Crippled Children, he presented Mr. J. C. Eversole Jr., county chairman for a word on the general plans.

Mr. Morton named the following committee to make the canvass for the club: Jack West, Chairman; Claude Branson and Joe W. Duncan. Lists were handed to the men to make their calls.

Mr. Lee Ketzler of Louisville, Ky., was a visiting Rotarian.

Mayor Issues Proclamation

In a Proclamation today, Mayor Willie Dawahare suggested that Hazard might return some of the sympathetic help the City has received in times of flood disasters.

The proclamation said: "In view of the fact that Hazard has suffered repeatedly from devastating floods and has been assisted in recovery by generous outside people, it is fitting that we in turn express our sympathy to the people of the Ohio Valley who are now suffering the disastrous effects of flooding, in whatever measure we can."

"Therefore I suggest that anyone who wishes to contribute to this worthy cause contact the mayor's office in Hazard."

A collection is already under way, Mayor Dawahare said. Donations of $10 from Dan Levine of Cincinnati and Sam Turner of Hazard have already been received.

Whooping Cough Hits Hard in Harlan County

An outbreak of whooping cough in Harlan County has brought a force of six state doctors there to augment the county health staff in immunizing all children under five.

While conditions in Harlan County are described as serious Dr. Lyndon Combs, Perry County Health Officer, said he has seen no sign of an epidemic here.

As a precaution against that possibility, however, Doctor Combs has urged all parents to make certain that their children have been immunized.

The County Health Department is open for immunizations Monday through Friday from one p.m. to four p.m. and on Saturday from eight a.m. to twelve noon.

A statement issued by the local health department said that although whooping cough may strike persons of all ages, children under seven are particularly susceptible.

"The majority of deaths from whooping cough occur in infants under six months," Dr. Combs stated.

"Even those who survive are left so weak that pneumonia or some other serious disease often strikes."

Whooping cough is described as a highly contagious disease which is found in the throat.

It is spread from person to person through coughing, sneezing and talking.

Early symptoms of whooping cough may be an ordinary cold with a cough, running nose and watery eyes.

This is followed by a worsening of the cough, which comes in spells, often followed by vomiting.

Kentucky law requires that all infants receive a primary immunization before age one. This is a series of immunizations against polio, diphtheria, whooping cough, tetanus and smallpox.

The county health services are free to the individual.

Coal Production Up Over Last Year

Coal production in the Hazard Field amounted to 108,120 tons during the week ended March 7, 1964 bringing the total for the year to date to 1,367,780 tons.

In announcing the figures, the Hazard Coal Operators Association said the week's production was 0.24 per cent below the 108,380 tons mined during the corresponding week last year.

Production for the year to date indicates an increase of 16.42 per cent over the 1,174,850 tons at the same date last year.

Tonnages are computed on a 50-ton-per-car basis and are subject to adjustment.

Rupp Dismisses Mickey Gibson

Former Hazard basketball star Mickey Gibson has been dismissed from the University of Kentucky basketball team "for disciplinary reasons," by Coach Adolph Rupp.

A sophomore, Gibson was the eighth leading scorer on the Wildcat squad which won the Southeastern Conference championship and will meet Ohio University tomorrow night in a bid for the NCAA championship as well.

Contacted by phone in Lexington today, Gibson gave his version of the incident that led to his dismissal from the Kentucky team.

He said that before practice on Tuesday he asked the team trainer to tape up his ankles according to a doctor's orders because of a sprained ankle Gibson suffered earlier in the season.

But the trainer refused to tape his ankles or to give him a reason why, Gibson said.

After asking the trainer several times to do it and meeting with the same refusal, Gibson said he took off his practice clothes and put his street clothes back on, because he couldn't practice unless his ankles were taped.

When Coach Rupp saw him in street clothes and asked him why he wasn't dressed for practice, Gibson said he told him about the incident with the trainer. Rupp told Gibson to get back in practice uniform, and Gibson said he did, then again asked the trainer to tape his ankles.

When the trainer said he would put only a few strips of tape on his ankles instead of a complete wrapping, Gibson said he couldn't practice that way and he dressed again in street clothes and left the coliseum.

He said that the next day Coach Rupp called him in and asked him about the whole incident, and that he explained it as it had occurred.

Gibson quoted Rupp as say-

Hazard People Offer Help To Flood Victims

In an ironic twist of fate, Hazard citizens are busily engaged in collecting money and clothing to send to towns in Northern Kentucky who were all but wiped out by recent floods.

It was the other way around in 1957 and 1963 when flood waters covered much of Hazard and left hundreds homeless and dependent on contributions for clothes to wear and food to eat.

Drives underway so far include a money collection sponsored by Hazard Mayor Willie Dawahare, an intensified Red Cross fund drive, and a collection of clothes and linen by the First Baptist Church.

Mayor Dawahare is accepting cash donations for the relief of citizens of Northern Kentucky towns hit by the flood. And fifty per cent of the funds collected by the Red Cross in its drive are slated for a similar purpose.

The ladies of the First Baptist Church today began receiving donations of good clothing and linens in the church basement, to be trucked Monday to Shepardsville and Falmouth, Kentucky.

Shepardsville on the Salt River and Falmouth on the Licking River were among the hardest-hit cities in the state.

The Rev. T. H. Harding, pastor of the First Baptist Church, said arrangements had been made with churches in Shepardsville and Falmouth to receive the goods that will be trucked there.

He said that two thirds of the members of the Falmouth Baptist Church lost all that they had when flood waters rose so fast there was no time for salvage of belongings.

Historical Marker For Elijah Combs To Be Erected Here

A historical marker honoring Hazard's founder, Elijah Combs, will be erected here soon, the Kentucky Department of Parks has announced.

Already approved by the State Historical Society, the marker will be the first to be erected in Perry County.

The marker will bear this inscription:

"Founder of Hazard, Elijah Combs and seven brothers came with parents to Kentucky in 1790. He was the first settler here, and a leader in forming the county, named for Admiral Oliver Hazard Perry, 1821. He deeded land on which Hazard stands to trustees, 1826. He was a member of the Legislature, 1840."

Bulldogs Continue Tradition

Hazard High School students in the cheering section in last week's district tournament unfolded a large banner proclaiming their confidence that the Bulldogs will represent the 14th Region in the state tournament this year. With victories over Leatherwood, M. C. Napier, Leslie County and Breathitt County so far in tourney play, the Bulldogs are favored to do just that. But it will still take wins over Wolfe County and the winner of the Fleming-Neon-Carr Creek game tonight to make sure their sign was not premature.

Hazard Takes 68-64 Win Over Breathitt, Plays Wolfe Co. Next

The Hazard Bulldogs overcame a major stumbling block on the long trail to a possible trip to the state high school basketball tournament last night as they ended Breathitt County's five-year reign as kings of the 14th region with a hard-earned 68-64 victory over the Bobcats.

Forward Jim Rose's brilliant shooting from the field and Joe Davis' free-throw accuracy when the pressure was on spelled the difference in a tight game that saw Bulldog leads of up to nine points slashed to two in the third and fourth quarters before they finally stopped the Bobcats on top by four points.

Breathitt County scored first on Don Allen's free throw, and led again at 3-2. But a jump shot by Jim Rose from his favorite forward slot put the Bulldogs ahead 4-3 after three minutes of play and never lost it, although Hazard fans were never able to relax in the tense game played for high stakes; advancement toward the finals of the regional to be played Saturday night.

Ahead 16-7 at the end of the first quarter, the Bobcats cut that lead to 23-21 by 3:26 of the second period on the sharp-shooting of James Turner.

But then Bulldog Freddy Hogg, who has really come into his own here at tournament time, got five straight points to pull Hazard out of danger, at least for the time being.

As the first half ended, Jim Rose and James Turner swapped basket for basket and Ken Tate dropped in two free throws to give a 34-26 halftime margin.

In the first half the Bulldogs hit 55 per cent from the charity line and the Bobcats sunk 62 per cent of their free throws.

James Turner got the tip to begin the second half and immediately spun around and fired a field goal, but Jim Rose matched Turner's bucket to make the score 36-28. Eugene Turner hit back to back field goals to tromp the Hazard lead to 36-31.

Two Minutes of Action

With only two minutes remaining in the third quarter the Cats had battled back to within two points, 42-40. Jim Rose and James Turner again matched fielding but Freddy Hogg and Joe Davis contributed to the cause and gave Hazard a 52-56 lead at the end of the third stanza.

Davis and Houston Hogg sunk two fielders, but Don Allen stole the ball twice and raced down the court for lay-ups. At 2:02 in the game Hazard's ace forward, Jim Rose, fouled out with 28 points to his credit.

The score then stood at 60-56, with the Bulldogs still in front. Jack Fugate added two free throws, but Chester Rose matched them with a field goal to make the score 64-60.

Fugate fouled out of the game with only 49 seconds remaining. Joe Davis dropped in two foul shots to increase the lead to 66-60. With only 18 seconds remaining.

Don Allen left the game on fouls and Davis was again at the line. Davis sunk his free throws and Breathitt scored four more points to make the score 68-64. With two seconds on the clock Houston Hogg fouled Raleigh, but Raleigh missed his free throw and Hazard conquered the mighty Breathitt County Bobcats 68-64.

For the losers James Turner was high scorer with 24 points on eleven field goals and two free throws. Eugene Turner collected 15; Don Allen, 13; Alfred Raleigh, 6; and Jack Fugate tallied four points. The Bobcats hit 62 per cent of their free throws.

Jim Rose paced the Bulldogs with 28 points on twelve field goals and four free throws. Freddy Hogg tallied 17 points. Joe Davis, connected on 70 per cent from the charity line, got on three field goals and seven free throws for 13. Chester ter Rose and Houston Hogg each got four points and Kenny Tate collected two. The Bulldogs hit an under-par 55 per cent of their shots from the line.

Martin Hensen Fined $100

Martin T. Henson, 25, was fined $100 in police court this week after he pleaded guilty to stealing gasoline from autos on the By-Pass parking lot in Hazard Sunday night.

Henson was caught by Police Officer Austin Smith and Anderson Asher after a Laurel Street resident telephoned police headquarters that a man was stealing from the cars on the lot.

In investigating the complaint, the officers found Henson hiding at the lot. They later found three gasoline cans on his person, as well as a siphon hose in a parked car and a five gallon can nearby.

Henson told police he was stealing the gasoline because two men he had hitch-hiked a ride with threatened to kill him with a .38 caliber pistol if he refused to steal it for them.

He was held in city jail until Tuesday afternoon.

Leslie Loses In Regional Opener

The Wolfe County Wolves upset the Eagles of Leslie County to open the 14th regional tournament at Memorial Gym last night.

Leslie County was on top 17-14 after 8 minutes and increased that lead to 32-21 with 2:57 to go in the first half. But Wolfe County came to life and outscored the Eagles 11-0 to tie the count 32-32 at the half.

Leslie County forged ahead 48-44 after three periods, but foul trouble struck a damaging blow in the hectic fourth period.

Wolfe County caught the Eagles with 3:32 to go at 58-55 and Leslie never caught up. Leslie went into a stall with 1:23 to go and Bobby Osborne took a shot with 44 to go, but it didn't drop for him and the Wolves got the rebound.

Phillip McReynolds hit a two-pointer for the Eagles with 24 to cut the lead to 64-62. However, with two seconds left the Eagles committed a personal and Wolfe County's Gene Neff hit both gratis throws to send the Wolves into the semifinals against Hazard's Bulldogs Friday night.

Neff led the Wolves to their victory with 23 points, with good support coming from Campbell with 11 and Halbrook with 10.

Phillip McReynolds topped Leslie scoring with 21 markers followed by Bob Osborne with 16 and Bruce Vance with 10.

Kiwanis Contest Winner Named

Jerry Carter, a Junior from Hindman High School, was winner of first place in the Kiwanis Club's annual speech contest held last Tuesday night, March 11th, at the Club's weekly dinner meeting.

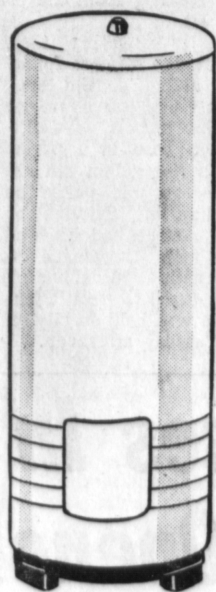

The speakers were judged by Dr. R. D. Johnson of the English Department of the University of Kentucky. There were seven contestants in all representing various High Schools in Perry and surrounding counties. Carter's subject was, "Racial Crisis in America". Robinson School Moving Forward

Robinson Elementary School at Ary, Kentucky, is moving forward in all areas required of a community school in the state of Kentucky. The past four years have been years of change, causing Robinson to be recognized as an outstanding institution of learning for elementary boys and girls.

It is hoped that during the school year 1964-65 that Robinson will be mentioned, along with several other schools in the state, as a Standard Elementary School. All that is now lacking to make Robinson—Standard is to have a library and a qualified librarian. This the school hopes to have starting September 1, 1964.

New library books are now being purchased and cataloged. It is expected that 1200 or 1300 new books will be ready for the Troublesome Creek boys and girls by September. Thanks for this great endeavor goes to the Parents, Teachers and Students of Robinson, the Perry County Board of Education, and the many friends of the school.

The Robinson P.T.A. voted to spend all funds raised during the 1963-64 school year on new books for the library. The organization at present has raised approximately $800.00. This amount was realized through a P.T.A. sponsored Fall Carnival held at the school last November.

Other fund raising projects are underway, and sponsored by the P.T.A. including the following: Robinson P.T.A. Banquet March 23 — 6:30 p.m. Price $1.00. Everyone is invited.

The money raised through the sale of tickets will be used to purchase new library books. If you read or hear about this invitation, please come.

SCHOOL PLANT: A modern kitchen and cafeteria have been added to the school plant. Four courteous cooks serve over 99% of the students daily. All students are fed regardless of income, except for a few living near-by who enjoy walking home for lunch.

The old "pot-bellied" stoves of the past have been replaced by a modern hot water type furnace. The children stay warm on all sides and really appreciate the fact of not having to carry coal or constantly rotate their bodies to stay warm.

A modern sewage treatment plant has been installed, eliminating the use of outside toilets and the pollution of Troublesome Creek.

The inside of the building has been newly painted making the rooms furnish a clean colorful environment for the students and faculty.

Robinson teachers and students have more teaching aids available than has been during the school's past history. The school has new science equipment, maps, health charts, chart holders, books and several small teaching aids to be used daily.

The first grade teacher and students are proud to report that they are participating in a Pilot-Study Reading Program sponsored by the American Book Company.

Miss Marie Marvel — Homeplace — Ary, Kentucky makes it possible for the bookmobile to service our faculty and students once a week. Many boys and girls check out a book to take home for their parents to read during the week. Miss Lula Hale, has assured us at Robinson that the bookmobile will continue to service our school, although we hope to have a school library. This assurance is greatly appreciated, and the service will be necessary for the educational growth and welfare of the Troublesome Creek boys and girls.

Music lessons are taught once a week by Miss Violet Eaton, local church worker, and Mrs. Bertha Kelly from Hazard, Kentucky.

The faculty members at Robinson are all qualified and as follows:

Mr. James Forrest Cornett—Principal - B.S. and M.A.
Mrs. Bethana Watts—First Grade - A.B.
Miss Sallie Combs—First Grade - A.B.
Mrs. Lena M. Landrum—Second Grade - B.S.
Mrs. Josephine Jones—Third Grade - B.S.
Mrs. Janalee Mullins—Third Grade - B.S.
Miss Stella Combs—Fourth Grade - Life Certificate.
Mr. Mitchell Allen—Fifth Grade - A.B.
Mrs. Essie Smith—Fifth Grade - Will receive her degree this summer.

The sixth, seventh and eighth grades are departmentalized using the following faculty members:

Mr. Willard Campbell—Mathematics - B.S.
Mr. Gorman Allen—Science and Health - A.B.
Mrs. Sylvia Allen—Language Arts - Will receive her degree this summer.

The faculty and students of Robinson invite anyone who wishes to come and visit to drop-in any time.

Through the power of the indwelling Christ we can attain a perfection—physically and mentally—that would otherwise be well beyond reach. But we must give that power full reign and acceptance.

Football Prospect Signed to Eastern Grant-In-Aid

Another outstanding football prospect has been signed to an Eastern Kentucky grant-in-aid, head coach Roy Kidd announced today.

The latest addition to next fall's prospective Maroon ranks is Albert L. Jordan, a 6-foot, 178-pound fullback from Louisville Male High School, which won the K. Kentucky Class AAA crown last fall. The Bulldogs were coached by Charles Kuhn.

Jordan, son of Mrs. L. Keel, 1018 Fehr Avenue, Louisville, fits into Kidd's plans perfectly. "I announced at the first of the recruiting season that I was looking for speed," he said. Jordan has been clocked at 4.8 seconds in the 40 yard dash.

The 18-year-old joins seven other highly-regarded prospects on the growing list of future Maroons.

Other signees to date are: Roger Butler, 215-pound guard from Madisonville; Gary Stookey, 165-pound Dayton, Ohio, halfback; Jay Hout, 190-pound center from Columbus, Ohio; Ron Shetler, 190-pound end from Dixie Heights; John Shields, 220-pound, Bob Wester, 196-pound fullback and Charles Metzger, 200-pound end, all of Louisville Seneca.

S. S. Administration Streamlines With Electronic Facilities

Although a person may wait a considerable number of years before reaching retirement age, when the time comes he usually wants action! The Social Security Administration is constantly streamlining its procedures, using the latest electronic communications equipment and all other available resources to facilitate the processing of claims for benefits.

Surprisingly enough, the claimant himself can do a great deal toward hastening the prompt, efficient payment of his benefits. First, he can file his application as early as three months before reaching retirement age. Full benefits are payable for retirement at age 65. Both men and women can retire on reduced benefits, however, between ages 62 and 65. Second, by filing early he can receive information as to what proofs may be required in his particular case. Proof of age may be supported by a birth or baptismal certificate, U.S. Census records, school records, immigration records, passports, military service records, old insurance policies, marriage licenses, family Bible entries, and similar records or documents.

Depending on the individual case, other proofs may be required. These could include proofs of marriage, divorce, adoption, support, and recent earnings, to mention a few.

Employees should have available a record of their last year's total earnings (W-2 Withholding Statement, if possible) and an estimate of the current year's earnings, to date & for the months ahead. If the retiring worker is filing for dependents who also have social security account number cards he must furnish their account numbers as well as his own.

Your nearest social security office is readily available to supply information for those planning to retire. The address can be found in your local phone book under the listing, Social Security Administration.

Clothing Collected for Children's Federation

Clothing collected by 31 Kentucky National Guard units will be airlifted to a warehouse of the Save The Children Federation on Tuesday March 10, it was announced today by Brigadier General William R. Buster, Assistant Adjutant General of Kentucky.

National Guardsmen will load the plane at the Shewmaker Air National Guard base in Louisville beginning at 10 o'clock a.m. and at the Bluegrass Field in Lexington beginning at Noon.

The clothing is to be transported through the cooperation of the Tennessee Air National Guard, using a C-97 transport, to the Federation's District Office in Knoxville, Tennessee. There the clothing is to be sorted according to size and condition and readied for distribution. It is anticipated that the clothing collected will offer some relief for those areas flooded in Kentucky.

Clothing to be loaded in Louisville was collected by 17 Guard units from the Louisville, Buell, St. Matthews, Carrollton, Bardonia and Elizabethtown areas.

Clothing to be loaded in Lexington was collected by 14 Guard units from Lexington, Frankfort, Richmond, Danville, Ravena, Carlisle, Harrodsburg, Springfield, and Campbellsville. Several tons of clothing collected will also be shipped to some 67 Army and Air National Guard units in Kentucky day by trucks from collection points in Ashland, Bowling Green, Madisonville, London, February.

The theme of the conference, which begins at 9:30, is "Materials and Methods in Teaching English and Foreign Languages." James E. Davis, a member of the Morehead Languages and Literature faculty and chairman of the Eastern Kentucky Education Association department of English and foreign languages, will preside. The keynote address will be given by Dr. Lewis Barnes, Professor of English at Morehead. Dr. Barnes will also narrate the premiere showing of a film "Nature of Physical Nature in Literature" made at Morehead State College by the Division of Languages and Literature and the Audio-Visual Department. Serving as consultants in discussion groups following the film showing will be: Dr. Alphonette Archer, Paintsville; High School; Lynda McKee, Flemingsburg High School; Roy W. Machen, Hamersville, Ohio; Linda Sue Stephens, Prestonsburg High School; and Marguerite Del Vecchio, Paul Blazer High School, Ashland. The afternoon session will feature a symposium on programmed learning in English and foreign language classes. Members of the symposium include Dr. Charles Pelfrey, William Hampton, Bernard Hamilton and Sam J. Denney, members of the Morehead Languages and Literature faculty. Also included during the afternoon session are a report on the Washington Conference on English for college-bound students, a planning session of the EKEA English and foreign language groups and a report from the Kentucky Council of Teachers of English. Davis said there would also be demonstrations of various teaching machines and audio-visual equipment. Registration will be held from 9:00 to 9:30 and Dr. Adron Doran, President of Morehead State College, will deliver a welcoming address. Gabriel C. Banks, Professor of English Emeritus at Morehead, will deliver the invocation.

Two State Departments Work Together on Wildlife Projects

March 10—An agreement between the Kentucky Department of Highways and Fish and Wildlife Resources to coordinate the work of the two agencies in an effort to keep at a minimum disturbance to wildlife by federally sponsored road projects is working wonderfully well, commissioners of the two Departments stated today. Commissioners Henry Ward and Minor Clark, of the two agencies, entered into a cooperative work plan last fall following enactment by the Congress of the United States of an enabling act whereby highway departments in the various states must submit to the wildlife agencies plans for proposed road projects. These plans are reviewed by the wildlife agencies and where such projects would adversely affect fish and wildlife resources such plans are altered, where possible, to cause the least interference with such resources. Highway and fish and wildlife agencies throughout the nation were asked to cooperate in this project by the Bureau of Public Roads and Kentucky was one of the first states to submit such an overall plan. Commissioners Clark and Ward drew up an agreement on procedure which was submitted to the Bureau of Roads and since that time the close liaison between the two Departments has been put into effect. In a letter to Commissioner Clark William E. Towell, chairman of the Legislative Committee for the International Association of Fish and Game Commissioners, lauded Kentucky's plan as being among the best submitted and mentioned two other states, Michigan and New York, whose agreements "appear to be good". Commissioner Ward said the agreement is this: Plans for federal road projects in Kentucky are submitted by the Highway Department to the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. These topographical maps are reviewed in the offices of the fish and wildlife agency to determine if such projects would interfere with fish and wildlife resources. The findings of this agency are submitted to the Department of Highways within three weeks. If the proposed road or dam or fill would not interfere with the fish and wildlife resources, the road project will proceed according to original plans, but if these resources are to be damaged by the project, the fish and wildlife agency will submit its objections and suggestions for a change in the plans. These plans will then be reviewed by the Design Division of the Department of Highways and altered to cause the least possible damage to fish and wildlife and will be submitted to the Highway commissioner for final disposition. Under the agreement, also, the two Departments work hand in hand in creating new bodies of water. The Fish and Wildlife agency, by studying the proposed road routes, is able to detect areas where ponds or small lakes may be created at very little expense by a highway fill. Where at all feasible the design of the fill on such roads is altered to make possible these impoundments. This phase of the project has been in operation for the past few years and as a result a number of lakes have been created.

Prestonsburg College To Open in September

The University of Kentucky's Prestonsburg Community College definitely will open in September, 1964, with a full two-year academic program.

That assurance came this week from UK President John W. Oswald, who said construction of the $882,000 building is scheduled for completion by July 1.

In addition to the academic work, UK officials say that terminal and cultural programs also will be offered eventually at Prestonsburg.

University representatives in recent weeks have visited high schools in Floyd, Magoffin, Johnson, Martin and Pike counties and talked with more than 1,000 seniors about the community college program.

Response to these visits has been "most encouraging," according to C. R. Hager, assistant dean of UK Extended Programs. About 200 of the seniors expressed definite interest in attending the Prestonsburg College, he said.

Hager also said his office has received many inquiries about admission requirements of the new community college. They include graduation from an accredited high school with a minimum of 15 units of acceptable high school work, recommendation of the high school principal, and examination scores recorded by the applicant in the American College Test.

The latter test, Hager said, is given periodically at Pikeville College and at Prestonsburg High School. Interested students can learn from their high school principal or counselor the date on which the next test will be given.

Applicants are urged to apply for admission as early as possible in order that all records may be completed and applications accepted without delay. Students who are unable to enroll for a full schedule of classes may register for part-time scholastic work.

The total fee to be paid by full-time students at Prestonsburg is $110 a semester, the same as on the University's of Lexington campus.

Hager said University officials hope that business firms and individuals in the area to be served by the Prestonsburg College will contribute scholarships for deserving students.

The Prestonsburg College, situated on a 33-acre campus, will have 12 classrooms, three laboratories, a library, a multi-use room for band and meetings, a seminar room and a director's office. It is designed to accommodate a maximum of 500 students.

The University currently is operating community colleges at Ashland, Covington, Cumberland, Fort Knox and Henderson. It will open another at Elizabethtown, also in September of this year. The 8th and 9th units of the community college system at Somerset and Hopkinsville, are scheduled to open in 1965.

Boggs Company Awarded Contract For Union College's Building

The low bid of $298,845 was received this week from the Boggs Construction Company of Barbourville, Kentucky, for the construction of the new Union College Student Union Building, President Mahon A. Miller has announced.

The total cost is expected to reach $375,000 which will include furnishings, architectural fees, and site improvements. President Miller announced that construction will begin immediately depending upon weather conditions.

The L-shaped building will have red brick construction extending 113 feet in width by 109 in depth. The first floor of the multi-purpose unit will contain a spacious recreation room equipped with a wall television, game areas, reading facilities, and a room-length picture window facing a concrete terrace. A snack bar, dark room, bookstore, post office, and rest rooms have also been provided for the ground floor.

A cantilever entrance will open midway between the two floors with the lobby having a terrazzo floor. The second story will contain a fellowship room which can serve for religious services. A unit kitchen and roof deck will adjoin this room. The second large upstairs area will be a student lounge having connecting rooms for student activities, offices, conferences, coats, and a women's lounge.

"Having been in the planning stages for two years, the Student Union is tailor-made for Union's needs," Miss Frances Partridge, chairman of the steering committee, stated. The student body will underwrite $300,000 of the total cost thru a self-assessment of $10 per semester which was passed by the students in 1962.

The building will contain a complete system with amplification for Stereo and FM frequencies. A master clock and new bell system will be installed. The south end of the structure is planned for expansion into the proposed new college dining hall.

Area Planning, Zoning Offices To Be Closed

Area Planning and Zoning offices at Ashland, Corbin and Hopkinsville will be closed on or before July 1, in connection with State Commerce Commissioner Katherine Peden's program for economy and more efficient management within the Commerce Department, she has announced.

Miss Peden said the move is in keeping with Governor Edward T. Breathitt's goal of increased economy in state government.

Meeting Planned At Irvine

Plans are being completed for East Kentucky Development Day, scheduled in Irvine for May 20, 1964.

Sponsored by the Buckhorn Scenic Mountain Trail Association, in cooperation with the Foothills Area Development Council, the event will recognize achievements made in carrying out Program 60—as recommended by the East Kentucky Regional Development Commission in 1960. The day's program will also promote travel on highways leading to Lake Buckhorn State Park, which will be opened early in May.

A report on Appalachian Regional Development by Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., Chairman of the President's Appalachian Regional Commission, will head the full day program of activities. Governor Edward T. Breathitt, former Governor Bert Combs and officials are expected to attend along with local officials and citizens from throughout Eastern Kentucky.

The Appalachian Program has been completed and will be presented to the President in a few days, according to John D. Whitman, Special Assistant to Governor Breathitt and Executive Secretary to the President's Commission. The President announced in his State of the Union message that he would not establish a special Appalachian Program and he has earmarked $250 millions for this purpose in his budget for next year, recently presented to the Congress.

for approval.

The Kentucky River Foothills Council, chaired by Howard Colyer, and made up of Estil, Clark, Madison, and Powell, Magoffin, Grayson are for this day, which is expected to result in a regular annual spring time event to recognize and celebrate progress made during the year in the Appalachian program. The event, however, will be held in cooperation with a different Area Development Council each year.

Mr. Colyer said, "We are aware that the Appalachian program has been specifically designed to help the area councils make local action more effective in Eastern Ky. The councils are not perfect and the program cannot be perfect, but let us begin with what we have, and what we know to do."

Complete plans for this year's event, being worked out by Royalty's committee include a full day of entertainment, special development reports and displays dealing with local projects underway throughout the region. A special emphasis will be placed on displays and reports on the region's developing tourist attractions and projects.

"The largest fish fry of all time in Eastern Kentucky, will be provided for the large attendance expected," according to Royalty. He noted that a special committee is at work preparing invitations and information to be mailed and to be carried to the area and local meetings throughout Ky., to welcome those who will be expected to swell the attendance to record proportions.

Clarence Bayes, Irvine, is serving as vice-chairman of the committee. Bill Miller, representative of the Eastern Kentucky Resource Development Project at Quicksand, and John Souder, of the Kentucky Area Program Office are serving as technical counselors on program arrangements.

A record attendance is expected.

—Hiram of Jackson, Ky.; one sister—Dyancy Collins of Cammel City, Ky.; two sons — Hubert of Vero Beach, Fla., Dr. William Kenneth Bays of Albany, Georgia; four daughters Mrs. Irene Napier of Cleveland, Ohio, Mrs. Mildred Bobb and Mrs. Imogene Ligon of Atlanta, Ga., Mrs. Alice Wilkerson of Vero Beach, Fla.

He was part owner and operator of the Ritchie and Frys Dairy at Blue Diamond and operated a store on Big Creek prior to moving to Florida in 1957.

Meeting At Hazard To Boost Home-Building

Special meetings will be held throughout Kentucky in March to boost a faster rate of home-building and improvement.

Charlie Dixon, secretary of the Kentucky Development Committee, said 23 such sessions are scheduled. They start March 16 at Paintsville and conclude March 26 at Alexandria and Maysville.

A team of specialists from the KDC will conduct the sessions, Dixon said. Building and improvement associations and lending agencies will work with the team. Objectives are to help local leaders build county housing programs and better planned construction. Major emphasis will be on more adequate housing for families whose financial abilities for housing are from $5,000 to $10,000 per unit. Attention also will be given to more adequate financial resources for home building and improvement in rural areas, plus good planning and lighting.

Meetings are: March 16, Paintsville; March 17, New Eddyville, Central City, Glasgow, Bowling Green and Hazard; March 18, Columbia, Campton and Winchester; March 19, Clinton, Mayfield, Hopkinsville, Frankfort, Danville, Barbourville and Burnside; March 24, Elizabethtown, Hartford and Grayson; March 25, Shelbyville and Mt. Sterling; and March 26, Alexandria and Maysville.

Builders, carpenters, plumbers, building supply firms, building and loan associations utility companies, farm groups, women's groups, community, county and area development officials, Chambers of Commerce, city officials and housing commission officials are invited.

Resource agencies on the programs include the U. K. Cooperative Extension Service, the Federal Housing Administration, Rural Electric Cooperatives, Kentucky Utilities Co., the Urban Renewal and planning and zoning sections of the state Department of Commerce, the Farmers Home Administration, Farm Credit Administration, and home improvement and mortgage firms.

"The Kentucky Development Committee became concerned about the condition of the homes of Kentuckians as reflected by the 1960 census. The survey showed 21 percent of the housing units in the state are classed as deteriorating, and eight percent as dilapidated. Many communities also are handicapped in attracting industry because available housing is so limited. A faster rate of home building and improvements could better living conditions for many thousands of families, make some communities more attractive to business, industry and tourists, and be a strong current boost to the economy. More jobs would be created," Dixon said.

'64 CHEVROLET—THE GREAT HIGHWAY PERFORMER

Chevrolet Impala Convertible

Nothing feels steep in a Chevrolet Impala (including the price!)

A hill is just something to admire the view from in a '64 Chevrolet with engines up to a 425-hp V8.

And if Chevrolet can go over a whole mountain so you hardly feel it, you can imagine how it goes over plain old bumps. Jet-smooth, of course, because we put a big coil spring at all four wheels (and 700 sound and shock absorbers throughout the car).

As you'd expect, Chevrolet turns in its usual fine performance with everything inside that big beautiful Body by Fisher, too. All kinds of stretch-out room. Wide thick-cushioned seats. Yards of deep-twist carpeting and elegant fabric and vinyl upholstery. You feel good just being there. You can see how anyone might get the idea this is a high-priced car. Unless they happened to look first at its Chevrolet price.

And your Chevrolet dealer will be happy to show you that the price is probably what you'll feel least of all.

ROWDY

High Waters

Remind Residents of 1963 Flood

By Elsie Noble

Everyone in Rowdy was a little upset Sunday night as the water in Troublesome began to rise. We have not forgotten the flood last year.

Jordan Noble and Omar Landrum have started planting their gardens. Landrum planted onions and Noble planted peas. Spirits are rising high about farming in Rowdy.

A few housewives here have started their spring housecleaning and painting already. A birthday party was given Saturday for 8 year old Carolyn Sue Johnson. Attending were Eliza Jane and Vata Campbell, Glenna R. Watts, Dartha Noble, Janice Campbell, Sue Jones, Debbie Johnson, Bevins and Goldia Campbell. Coke and refreshments were served to the guests.

Attendance at our Sunday School was 48; the offering was $3.80.

Aunt Susie Campbell is very ill in the Appalachian Regional Hospital. She is very 89 years young. We all wish her a speedy recovery.

Your writer had a good attendance at our sewing club Friday.

P.F.C. Arliss Noble is home from North Carolina on a 12 day leave. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jordan Noble of Rowdy.

Andrew and Mervin Campbell were in Hazard last week on business.

Neil P. Couch

Completes Work

In Jungle Warfare

Army Specialist Five Neil P. Couch, 30, whose wife, Janet, lives at 336 High St., Hamilton, Ohio, and more than 800 other soldiers of the 173rd Airborne Brigade at Fort Buckner, Okinawa, completed nine days of jungle warfare training February 22 on Irimote Island, home of the brigade's Jungle Warfare Training Center.

The island, second largest of the Ryukyu chain, lies 250 miles southwest of Okinawa and 12 miles east of Taiwan. Cliffs and steep slopes predominate its shoreline, beyond which tropical forests rise to a rough, mountainous interior.

Specialist Couch, a tank gunner in Company D of the brigade's 16th Armor on Okinawa, was instructed in techniques of combat and survival, day and night navigation and the employment of specialist equipment—all jungle-oriented. He also was taught to utilize the quick hit-and-run tactics of the guerrilla fighter, a type of mobile warfare vital to a paratrooper's effectiveness in both conventional and unconventional warfare.

Couch entered the Army in 1951 and was stationed at Fort Bragg, N. C., before arriving on Okinawa in January of this year.

He attended Clay County High School, Manchester.

THE SEASON OF

The year is rolling around that will mark a year ago soon to the flood that once again spread its angry head in your homes and places of business—yes, causing untold damages that can never be replaced. I don't care if you got the top loans and other help. You just don't restore property and replace untold things that are priceless to so many of you. Folks, let's wake up in this valley to what could be done, and what can be done in a much quicker way than building dams. I realize that we are going to get the Carr Creek Dam—Folks that is not the salvation for us in this flood ridden valley. I know it is good, but it is not quick enough. What to suggest is beyond me. I do believe something to give us some quick help could come from a cut through the mountains at some logical point, dredging and cutting back excess trees and debris from our river banks could be another quick method of getting rid of our water faster.

I have repeatedly suggested such measures as some of our bridge railing be fixed so that they could be lowered in time of high waters, especially the city bridge here in Hazard. I would like to see every Civic Club in our City make an all-out effort to speed up one of the most essential problems that we are faced with today. Let's face the facts in a serious manner. Let's start a sound solution to these hazards of high water. HOW MANY OF YOU COULD STAND ANOTHER AT THIS TIME, or the next few years?

PAID HIS BILLS

As was related to us by Tom Eversole down Krypton way, he tells us of a local merchant that owed a salesman a meat bill near twenty dollars, the old merchant gave him a twenty dollar bill, the salesman gave him back a few cents in change, the old merchant kept looking at his change—the salesman thought maybe he had made a mistake because he stood there just looking at it. The salesman became worried that he might have made a mistake and stated, "Didn't I give you back your correct change?" The old merchant scratched his head, and replied—"YOU JUST BARELY DID".

Speaking of paying bills, about the youngest person I have known is little TIMMY BINGHAM, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Bingham, he liked nine cents paying for an item that caught his eye. Believe me it worried him until he got his next allowance to pay off this nine cents deficit. This is something unusual for a kid of four or five years old. I always say it is the way a kid is taught at home. I predict that Timmy will go a long way in this world if he holds to this practice.

BOOKS ARE GOOD FOR YOU

Books are delightful society. If you go into a room filled with books, even without taking them down from their shelves, they seem to speak to you, seem to welcome you to tell you that they have something inside their covers that will be good for you, and that they are willing and desirous to impart it to you.—W. E. Gladstone.

In 1813 when Thomas Lincoln was living on his Knob Creek farm, a man destined to precede his son, Abraham, in the Presidency stayed awhile at nearby Elizabethtown. This was James Buchanan Jr., who came to help his father in a lawsuit. The younger Buchanan became the 15th president of the U. S.

The Lord Helps The Self-Helpers

Financial aid from outside sources has been flowing into this region for several years now, and seems to be approaching a new high with President Lyndon Johnson's announced "War On Poverty" and the ambitious economic reconstruction plan recently drawn up for this area by the Appalachian Planning Commission. Hopefully, these massive efforts by the higher governments to put Appalachia back on its feet and make the area self-sufficient again will be great enough to accomplish their purpose.

But there is some doubt about the ultimate, permanent success of even this latest, greatest rebuilding venture of the government, if the people native to Appalachia fail to use this opportunity to regain their personal initiative, in their own lives and personal circumstances.

Individual enterprise could be very much in danger of becoming obsolete as a way of life for a man if he sees all this federal aid in the wrong light. There is talk about the "welfare syndrome" in which the welfare-life is continued from father to son like a chain reaction. The only people who can keep this from becoming wide-spread are the individuals of this area themselves.

Pride in self-reliance and individual capability are traditional virtues of the mountaineer that must be restored and maintained before this land will be back on its feet.

It's a strange thing how one family can get by, maybe even thrive, on a hundred dollars a month and a patch of ground, while his neighbor, with the same resources, will live at the bare edge of simple survival. The difference between two such families is that one will spend a dollar for vegetable seeds to plant while the other buys a carton of soft drinks and two packages of cigarettes.

Mountain people have never been great farmers and probably never will be. The soil and landscape won't permit it. But as a way to supplement one's livelihood, to back up what ever source of cash he may have, however small, a garden, some poultry, perhaps larger live stock in places could be invaluable assets to the family trying its best to get on its own.

This idea is beginning to spread in the mountains and it should be encouraged. There are poultry farms in Letcher and Knott Counties whose produce is convertible to cash. A Leslie County man raises beans for his living. A few strawberry patches will be coming up this spring. And where the crops cannot be sold for cash, old fashioned canning, drying, and smoking can preserve these foods and make them continually valuable to any family.

But the best of hard efforts are in vain if a family refuses to live within its means. Families with limited but adequate incomes who do not deny themselves the frills of our civilization are far worse off than other families with severely limited resources but who are disciplined enough to live frugally. A TV set in a home where children are ill fed, ill housed or ill-clothed, cannot be justified on any grounds.

Many families of course are utterly destitute and must have temporary help outside their own means. They must be assisted in getting back on their feet. This kind of aid is necessary and moral. And the great public projects such as roads, dams and schools cannot be looked upon as "handouts" because in reality they are investments in the future and will ultimately repay to the American people much more than their initial cost. The aid that is in real danger of being wasted, however, is that which goes to maintain individuals in their idleness. If such aid does not in the end result in restoring the self-sufficiency of these people, it will indeed be wasted.

The federal government helps just about anybody when it can afford to and when it is politically practical. But The Lord helps those who help themselves.

The Misuse of Firearms

The Constitution of the United States confers certain powers upon the national government but reserves to the people large areas of freedom which cannot be invaded. These rights which the people kept for themselves became the first 10 Amendments to the Constitution and are known as the Bill of Rights. Each of these rights has a reciprocal responsibility.

The Second Amendment asserts that the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed. The ownership and lawful use of firearms by individual citizens has become, over the years, one of the historic traditions of America. It represents a freedom won by our forefathers which is enjoyed by the people of few other nations. It is an essential part of our priceless heritage which must be cherished and encouraged if it is to be maintained.

Because of the constitutional right of individual Americans to keep and bear arms, responsible citizens have the right to own firearms and to use them for self-protection, for the security of our nation, and for recreational activities such as hunting and target shooting. In return, they have certain obligations which must be fulfilled. Firearms must be handled with safety and with skill. They must be kept in good condition and stored in an appropriate place. They must be used with common sense and consideration for others.

It is the misuse of firearms that produces tragic accidents and crimes of violence. The problem of firearms accidents can be approached through education and training programs such as the NRA Home Firearms Safety Course and the NRA Hunter Safety Course. The problem of crimes of violence with firearms, on the other hand, must be approached with realistic firearms legislation.

Since it is generally accepted that some degree of control over firearms is both proper and necessary, the reaction of many people to crimes involving a firearm is that the crime happens because the laws are too lax. They fail to realize that crimes cannot be prevented by regulating firearms in the hands of law-abiding citizens and that you cannot make an unsound law work by making it more severe. The objectionable feature of most proposed firearms legislation is the wrong emphasis. It tends to disarm the law-abiding citizen, while it fails miserably in its avowed purpose of disarming the criminal. No legislation can prevent criminals from securing firearms, but proper legislation with adequate enforcement and appropriate judicial implementation can make it to the interest of criminals not to use the firearms and can send to prison, for long periods, those caught doing so.

Intelligent Americans will agree that under today's conditions, guidelines must be established for the control of firearms in some areas. Nevertheless, this control must be based on reason and understanding, not on emotional reaction or on misinformation. Existing laws should be strictly enforced with severe punishment for people who use firearms for illegal purposes. The lawless few must not be allowed to jeopardize a constitutional right of many. Any proposed legislation should not be directed at firearms or the right to keep and bear arms, but at the misuse of firearms. —American Rifleman.

Would Move To Hazard

Dear Sir:
We would like to inquire as to the value of property there in, near or around Hazard.
We want a place cheap as possible.
We have six growing children and wish to get them away from here. This is no place to raise kids decently.
We would like a place with a little land to rent until we can find just what we want.
Would appreciate any help from you.
Please send me a Copy of the THE HERALD if possible.
Hoping to hear from you at the earliest date convenient.

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Ruse
1810 S. W. 65th Avenue
Pompano Beach, Florida

EDITOR'S NOTE: Mr. and Mrs. Ruse's desire to move from Florida to Hazard is certainly a welcome switch in these days of mass migration from the hills. We agree that Hazard is a fine place to raise children and predict that with a change for the better in our economy, many people will follow the Ruse's lead in looking to the Hazard area for a nice place to live.

Hazard Students Criticized

March 6, 1964 Hazard, Kentucky

Dear Editor:
I hope you will publish this letter as an expression of feeling's and several other Hazard adults who were embarrassed by the poor sportmanship displayed by Hazard High School students in the District Tournament last week.
Every time an opposing player would shoot a foul shot Hazard students would yell and scream and ring cowbells in an attempt to distract the player. They also booed loudly every time the referee would make a call against a Hazard player.

This is certainly not in the old tradition of good sportmanship at Hazard High. Hazard has too good a team to need that kind of support. Like everyone else I hope Hazard wins the regional and goes to the State Tournament. But if Hazard students conduct themselves as poorly in Lexington as they do here, they don't deserve to go, as much as I hate to say it.

The Superintendent and the principal should take steps to control the students. The cheerleaders tried their best but over the cowbells and pounding on the rails, they could not be heard.

—Hazard Alumnus.

Objects to Press Reports

Dear Editor:
I am from Hazard. I was born and raised in these Eastern Kentucky Mountains, to me there was nothing more beautiful.

I came to California to get work which I did, but this morning I picked up this Los Angeles Herald and this is the page I saw. According to their report in this paper, the people of Hazard and surrounded areas have no education at all.

They state that three-fourths of the children in school only looks forward to when they become sixteen years of age so they can quit school.

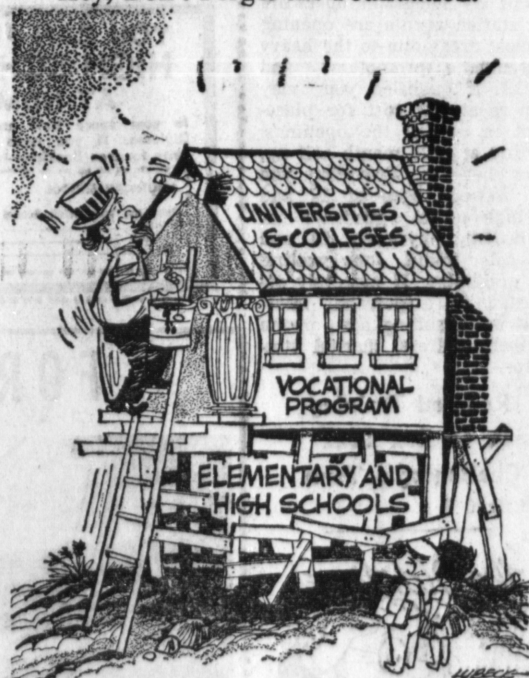

There is also a statement that 75% of the people would rather receive relief than take a job. This I disagree with completely.

I was raised in "Blue Grass Hollow," but I think they are running the people of Hazard and area into the minds of these people as a whole generation of ignorant people.

I think if the people of Perry County had factories and industry that it would be one of the most prosperous towns in Kentucky.

CLIFFORD STAMPER Huntington Park, Calif.

Hey, Don't Forget the Foundation!

(Education News Service)

The leadership of the Kentucky Education Association is concerned about the inadequate Foundation for Education, illustrated by this picture.

The profession favors improvements at all levels, including the Foundation. No one will deny the fact that the elementary and secondary levels are basic, and should have adequate financial support.

One Extreme As Bad As Another

Perhaps the most eloquent editorial that we could write about these children shown above is to say that they live in Perry County, in the month of March, the year of 1964.

But such a brief comment does not fully point out what we mean to say, so words are necessary to elaborate.

Eastern Kentuckians have for over a year now felt a growing sense of indignance because the national press has gone to such extremes in painting an elaborate picture of abject poverty as the normal way of life here. Every week some large newspaper, magazine, or television program has told the story of depressed times in the Kentucky mountains and told it in such a way that people from this area have been angered because they presented only half the truth.

We have shared this resentment to a large extent, because none of the press reports have bothered to mention that many, many mountaineers live well, are educated, healthy, cultured people, perhaps above the national norm. The nation has indeed got a slanted view of how times actually are in this area and we resent and regret that fact.

But it is also becoming apparent that in our well-meaning efforts to protect the public image of the people of the mountains, we are in danger of going to the other extreme, of almost denying that there is any hardship here at all, especially those of us who live in town.

Facts are facts, and this region must be viewed according to the facts. It is a sad dangerous to assume one extreme of our condition as it is the other. One reaction to the above picture will no doubt be: "But children just as pitiful can be found in any prosperous city." Certainly that is true. But that doesn't make the plight of these children, here acceptable or less severe.

The children above live in Perry County. There are five more in the family. Their house behind them has two beds, a few blankets, no sheets, and little other furniture. There is no plumbing. No dishes, silverware, only two skillets for cooking utensils. There was no coal in the house when the picture was made. Their drinking water dripped into a pool from the face of a big rock. Their main diet, they said, was potatoes and bread. They wore no shoes. They live in Perry County in March, 1964.

Herald-ings

By Martha M. Nolan

New homes are still being erected in Hazard, even though costs are still high and many "Doubting Thomases," think our area is dead. Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Daniels are completing a modern home on Daniel Heights that will be ready for occupancy in the next month. The home, of White Brick construction, will be two bedroom, with a double breezeway garage. Mr. and Mrs. Daniels own the Colonial home in Woodland park which they will retain. Mr. Bill Gorman and Associates are the builders of the Daniels home.

Mr. and Mrs. Barney Baker, who for many years have resided in Woodland Park, (as a matter of fact Mr. Baker, was the developer of the area), are now building a modern brick home next door to their present home.

When discussing his new home, Mr. Baker stated: "This home is being built so that my family will have plenty of room when they visit us."

The house has five bedrooms, three baths and a family room along with a large dining room, kitchen and breakfast nook. Mr. Phillip C. Hall of Fusonia is the supervisor of the building, and all materials were purchased locally, Mr. Baker said.

Home Office Supply window has a beautiful assortment of Girl scout artifacts, emblems etc. just to call attention to the fact this is National Girl Scout Week.

Friday, March 13th, will be the regular meeting of the Hazard Shrine Club which will be held at the V.F.W. and a free feed will be given to every one. This is an important meeting, but Mr. Bill Perry, president of the club said "Those who want to attend the game could eat and fellowship with the group and then attend the game."

The Shrine seems to be hepped up, if you will excuse the word, and they are anxious to buy an old ambulance, and assist crippled children who need help to get in the crippled children's hospital in Lexington. So Shriners come on out, and give your support to this worthy cause.

Oh yes, the wives are invited too.

Book Review

THE SPY WHO CAME IN FROM THE COLD
by John Le Carre. ($4.95)

This novel adds John LeCarre's name to the microscopically small of really great writers of espionage fiction. It is the spy novel to end all spy novels.

Its central figure, Leamas, whose mission is to trap the top spy of East Berlin, is of astonishing reality and authenticity. The plot he sets in motion, and later becomes the principal victim of, is a thing of magnificent complexity. Also of far reaching implications. The tension within Leamas is strikingly contemporary. It is the tension of a committed man unable to come to terms with the utterly ruthless machine he serves.

The Spy Who Came in from the Cold is a novel of the first order — terrifying in its significance, impressive in its actuality, awesome in its high political import. And it happens to be immensely thrilling.

THE STARS AND STRIPES

Hollander: "Our flag has three stripes—, red, white, and blue. These colors are related to our income tax. We get red in the face when we talk about them. We get white when we get the bill. We pay until we're blue in the face."

American: "It's the same in our country, only we see stars, too."

What Would Happen If All Advertising Stopped In America?

So we have something to protect and it's called the good name of "advertising." We can protect it only by properly understanding its function, respecting the character of our competitors where anything less than such respect would damage advertising's name and, more important than these, telling the people what we are trying to do.

The record of advertising's contribution to American economic and social growth is well known:

Nothing in good music or good drama is delivered to the American people over radio or over the counter or via television for which advertising cannot claim a large amount of credit.

The thousands of miles of cables and wireless telegraphy that gird the world, reducing today's complicated civilization to news of the hour — these are paid for by advertising in a very real sense.

And again in the vital statistics department, our government has made this graphic comparison between the American standard of living and that of Soviet Russia:

For a worker to buy a pound of butter in New York, it takes 20.5 minutes of work; for a similar worker in Moscow, it takes 3 hours and 4 minutes of work.

For a pound of potatoes, 2 minutes in New York; 7 minutes in Moscow.

For a quart of milk, 7.5 minutes in New York; 31 minutes in Moscow.

For a dozen eggs, 17.4 minutes in New York; 2 hours and 24 minutes in Moscow.

For a man's suit, 23 hours in New York; 11:45 days in Moscow.

For women's shoes, 5 hours and 10 minutes in New York; 57 hours and 30 minutes in Moscow.

For a man's cotton shirt, 56 minutes in New York; 15 hours in Moscow.

For a pair of women's stockings, 37 minutes in New York; 8 hours in Moscow.

For a package of cigarettes, 7 minutes in New York; 27 minutes in Moscow.

These are evidences of advertising's contribution which can be understood and appreciated by the buying housewife; yet we do not tell her about them often enough. It is through telling her, in terms she will apply to her own living experience, that advertising's influence, prestige and growth will be encouraged. For none should know better than do we the necessity of mass support by the public.

Advertising, like everything else in America, is getting BIGGER. Population is getting BIGGER. There are more people to serve, and more businesses needed to serve them.

We at WTCW believe that every time we place a spot announcement, we are selling two things: the product advertised and advertising itself. The better we sell the latter, the more effectively will we sell the former.

Advertising stopped in America today?

Without it we could not survive as a nation. With more of it, and improvement in it, we can contribute to a stronger America.

Surely, too, we must try to get better. We must drive from advertising the few chisels who cheapen its name. We must do all we can to make advertising more effective, for thus we strengthen the nation itself.

In the year 1759, over two centuries ago, a great author wrote this:

"The trade of advertising is now so near perfection that it is not easy to propose any improvement."

His name was Samuel Johnson. You were so wrong, Sam.

Sandy Harvey Honored At Party; Republican Meeting Cancelled

By Mrs. Ernest Fritts, Sr.
Miss Sandy Harvey was guest of honor at a birthday party given by her mother, Mrs. Earl Harvey, Friday night.

Attending were Brenda Morgan, Betty Hurt, Janice Farnier, Pattie Hurt, Percilla Byrd, John Adkins, Doug Adkins, Freddie Reeves, Haven King, Richard Newberry and Larry Harvey.

After an evening of playing games and dancing the guests were all served delicious refreshments. Everyone reported a wonderful time.

Mr. James Price has returned to his home in Junction City after a visit with his daughter, Mrs. Corless Reeves, and Mr. Reeves.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Maggard and sons Mike, Roger and Greg, of Waynesburg, were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Gross, Mr. and Mrs. Bascom Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Howard and Mrs. Matilda Hobbs.

Larry Fritts was absent from school Thursday and Friday on account of illness.

Mr. John Young and Mr. John Kilburn have been patients at Mount Mary Hospital.

Mr. Harlan Gross has resumed work with the Highway Department after a long siege of sickness.

Mr. and Mrs. Hammonds and daughter Debbie, of Dayton were weekend guests of her mother, Mrs. Pansy Begley.

The Republican meeting scheduled to be held at Cornett Hill Saturday at 2 p.m. for the election of Chairman and other officers of the party failed to materialize due to the attendance of sufficient members. If we are going to be true to our party, regardless of name, let us don our working clothes and get on the job. Each voter is responsible for the part he or she plays in this great political battle.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Fritts, Jr., and family were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Fritts Wednesday. Mr. Fritts celebrated his sixty-ninth birthday.

Prestonsburg Winner In Progress Program

Prestonsburg came in first in District 7 of the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce's Opportunity for Progress Program. Paintsville won second and Grayson played third in the district contest that annually selects a winner to compete in the state contest.

This year's state awards program will be held at the annual meeting of the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce in Louisville on April 14. Prestonsburg will compete with the first-place winners from the other seven districts for the special plaque.

Awards to Paintsville and Grayson will be presented at meetings in those towns. Each will receive a special plaque and road marker for their improvement projects.

There were 13 communities competing in this year's contest in District Seven. The judging committee consisted of James T. Snyder, assistant manager of Ashland Marketing Division of Ashland Oil and Refining Company; Herman Wheeler, director of the gas and water utilities in Paintsville; and Rufus P. Thomas, chairman of District 7 and area development director of Kentucky Power Company.

Entrants in the Opportunity for Progress Program were judged in three categories of activities: commercial and area improvements and promotion; recreation and travel facility development, and civic improvement program.

Chairman Thomas said: "Each year we can see the program building on the successes of the previous years."

We have come to a point where all of the community in the contest are beginning to show many different kinds of development. This broadened base of improvement promises to provide even more progress with the encouragement and enthusiasm of interested citizens."

Other communities in the contest were: Jackson, Morehead, West Liberty, Pikeville, Hazard, Whitesburg, Beattyville, Hyden, Hindman and Neon, Ky.

The three pictures above illustrate one reason for their enthusiasm. The top car is a 1963 model . . . the center car is a 1962 Cadillac . . . and the lower car is four years old. The styling through the years has evolved and refined, but each is unmistakably a Cadillac.

These owners share a common knowledge. Not even most new motor cars offer the degree of pleasure and reliability that come with a previously owned Cadillac. First, there is Cadillac's renowned craftsmanship, which results in a car of unusual endurance.

Next, consider value. The equipment on a Cadillac of older vintage is still extra cost on most new cars . . . and includes such features as Hydra-Matic, power steering, power brakes, power windows on most models . . . plus many Cadillac engineering advancements that still have not found their way into other new 1964 cars.

And don't overlook Cadillac's reputation for operating economy—comparable to many smaller cars.

So when you make your next motor car investment, new or used, consider only one name—Cadillac.

HIGH SPEED

Plymouth rocks racing world with sweep in Daytona "500"

According to the record book for stock cars in competition, there is no higher average speed for 500 miles than the 154.334 m.p.h. set by a competition-equipped 1964 Plymouth in winning last month's Daytona "500."

Adding to that glory is the fact that two more 1964 Plymouths finished 2nd and 3rd for a decisive Plymouth sweep. That suggests that Plymouths were not only the swiftest cars in the competition, but that they're built to stay in there all the way.

For the millions of racing fans and high-performance enthusiasts across the country, Plymouth is proud of its "high speed" victory at Daytona.

YOUR SPEED

Plymouth beats Ford & Chevrolet in tests of showroom V-8s

This competition was more "your speed." At Plymouth's request, an independent testing company bought and compared showroom models of Plymouth, Ford and Chevrolet.

The cars were comparably equipped standard V-8s—cars people buy. And the tests were of "things people buy a car for"—acceleration, handling, braking, and gas economy.

In test after test, Plymouth accelerated best, handled best, braked best, and got the best gas mileage. This is the kind of competition Plymouth most likes to win. "High speed" or "your speed," these 1964 Plymouths are tough to beat!
